Welcome to Gdańsk
Welcome to Gdańsk

Gdańsk is a port city by the Baltic Sea, at the crossroads of important commercial and communication routes. It is the capital of the region of Pomerania, a culture centre and the leader in science and business in the region. Gdańsk is one of Poland’s oldest cities, and over its thousand years of existence the city has witnessed events which have changed the course of world history. Here, on September 1, 1939, World War II began on Westerplatte peninsula, changing the whole world; Gdańsk was also the place that initiated the fall of communism in Central Europe. Contemporary Gdańsk is a half-million, dynamically developing metropolis with picturesque cycling and walking paths, kilometres of beaches, and many ways to have fun. In 2012, the city hosted four matches during the 2012 UEFA European Football Championship tournament. Most of Gdańsk’s tourist attractions are located near the heart of its Main Town District, around Długa Street and the River Motława. You can also visit the nearby shipyard with its post-industrial and Solidarity-related monuments. Gdańsk’s tourist season is at its height in June, July, and August. Today, Gdańsk is one of the main cities in Poland, significantly growing and remembering it past.

Gdańsk is a city where you feel history, but you can see more than just historical monuments. Here is a list of Gdańsk’s greatest hits:

PGE ARENA Gdańsk

PGE ARENA is a stadium in Gdańsk, the home arena of the Lechia Gdańsk football club. The stadium was opened on July 19, 2011. It was built specifically for the European Football Championship (which was held in 2012 in Poland and Ukraine). The stadium has a capacity of 42,105 seats. The Baltic metropolis was the only Host City of UEFA EURO 2012™ located by the seaside.
Welcome to Gdańsk city

The Royal Route
The name given to Długa Street and its extension: Długie Targ (Long Market). From the year 1457, the ceremonial entries of Polish monarchs took place here. Both streets are among the most beautiful in Gdańsk. Here the wealthiest townspeople lived. Długi Targ has what are among the city’s most important structures – Artus Court, the Main Town Hall and the Fountain of Neptune, one of the icons of Gdańsk.

Long Riverfront
The Long Riverfront (Długie Pobrzeże) stretches along the River Motława. In the past it played an important economic role. The medieval Crane, which is the oldest harbour crane in Europe, is a reminder of that time. Now it is a promenade with numerous restaurants where you can eat and drink with a view of the marina and the ships sailing on the River Motława.

The Crane
The biggest Medieval harbour crane in Europe. The oldest documented mention of the Żuraw as a wooden harbour crane comes from 1367. It was able to lift almost of 5 tons of goods and help put up ship masts. It was used to unload ships and also served as a tower and a city gate. Today, the Crane is a Gdańsk icon and home to a branch of the Maritime Museum. The Crane is open to visitors during the summer months. You can come and see this surprising piece of medieval construction and various exhibits detailing the interesting history of the entire port of Gdańsk.

St. Mary’s Church
The largest brick church in the world. Its construction, which began in 1343, took over 150 years. After reconstruction from damage sustained during World War II, St Mary’s again captivates visitors with its size. You can see a breathtaking panorama of Gdańsk from its tower.
Mariacka Street
One of the most stylish streets in Gdańsk. It connects St. Mary’s Church with the Long Riverfront. It charms visitors with its beauty, the spirit of the historic city and its houses with richly decorated entrances. Here you can buy beautiful amber products.

Gdańsk’s city gates
The most famous of them are those which stand along the Royal Route. First, it is worth visiting the sixteenth century Upland Gate, which was part of the city’s fortifications. The Golden Gate, a masterpiece of Gdańsk art from its golden age, opens the entrance to Długa Street and Długi Targ (the Long Market). The Royal Route closes with the Green Gate, which was the residence of kings coming to Gdańsk.

The Amber Museum
Museum is situated in the Fore-gate Complex of Długa Street. Here you can see unique amber artefacts, but also amber inclusions: organisms embedded in resin millions of years ago. The most recent specimen in the Amber Museum’s natural history collection is the second world known inclusion of a Solifugae arachnid. Even more impressive is the lizard inclusion which the museum also has in its collection.

Monument to the Fallen Shipyard Workers
The Monument stands on the square near the former Lenin Shipyard. It was made in 1980 by the shipyard workers. This took place a few months after the famous strike of 1980 and the creation of the Solidarity trade union. The monument commemorates the workers who were shot during the strikes and demonstrations in December 1970.

Former shipyard area
The former shipyard area once belonged to the Gdańsk Shipyard, now many new projects are created...
Oliwa
One of Gdańsk’s oldest districts. Among its attractions is Oliwa Park, built in the eighteenth century in the gardens which used to belong to the abbey here and where you can see plant specimens brought from almost all over the world. Next to the park rises the Oliwa Cathedral - the longest church in Poland and one of the longest churches in the world. The main nave is 107 m in length (97.6 m inside). The facade and its spires rise to a height of 46 m. Inside you can admire the famous Oliwa Organ from the 18th century.

Wisłoujście Fortress
For centuries Wisłoujście Fortress has guarded Gdańsk against attacks from the sea. Its beginnings go back to the 13th century. It successfully defended the city against the invasion fleet of King Stephen Bathory in the year 1577. The fortress has replicas of forty cannons that were used in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and is a stage for historical re-enactments.

Brzeźno Pier
One of Gdańsk’s favourite places to go for a walk. Beautiful sandy beaches stretch throughout Brzeźno and when tourists become tired of the sun they can rest in the shade of trees in nearby Reagan Park which is separated from the beach by dunes and a cycling path which leads to Sopot.

Roads to Freedom Exhibition
The Roads to Freedom is a unique exhibition which tells the difficult history of Poland before 1989 and the fates of people who fought for liberty. It shows a fascinating fragment of Gdańsk and Polish history. The multi-media exhibition is located near the Monument to the Fallen Shipyard Workers at 21 Wały Piastowskie Street.

Wisłoujście Fortress
For centuries Wisłoujście Fortress has guarded Gdańsk against attacks from the sea. Its beginnings go back to the 13th century. It successfully defended the city against the invasion fleet of King Stephen Bathory in the year 1577. The fortress has replicas of forty cannons that were used in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries and is a stage for historical re-enactments.

Nowy Port Lighthouse
One of the Baltic Sea’s most beautiful lighthouses measures 27 meters in height and was put into service in the year 1894. Located at the top is a very unusual instrument – a time ball. The rise and drop each afternoon allowed ship captains to precisely adjust their chronometers. In 2008 the famous 19th century time ball was restored and today shows the time at 12:00, 14:00, 16:00 and 18:00 with an accuracy of 1 second per 200,000 years!

“The Last Judgment”
The famous painting by Hans Memling is the most valuable exhibit at the National Museum in Gdańsk. The triptych was created between 1467 and 1471. It is impressive with its dimensions as well as its technical perfection, the beauty of the vision and the rich, mysterious symbolism. You can admire the masterpiece in the museum’s Department of Historical Art.

Hevelianum Centre
The Hevelianum is a unique scientific centre located in the former Napoleonic and Prussian fortifications in the vicinity of the Main Railway Station. This is the best place for taking photos of the Gdańsk cityscape and for a close encounter with modern science and technology.

Brzeźno Pier
One of Gdańsk’s favourite places to go for a walk. Beautiful sandy beaches stretch throughout Brzeźno and when tourists become tired of the sun they can rest in the shade of trees in nearby Reagan Park which is separated from the beach by dunes and a cycling path which leads to Sopot.

Accommodation

The first thing you should do is to consider all the available options. It all depends on how much money you want to spend and what you are aiming at when choosing your accommodation. Depending on your requirements, you have 2 choices.

Option 1: Dormitory

Why?
A dormitory – if you’re into partying your way through your studies, meeting a lot of new people, living close to your place of study and want to avoid spending too much, this is the place for you.

What?
Most rooms in student dormitories are double rooms, but there are also single and triple rooms. Rooms are equipped with furniture such as single beds, desks, and closets. In some dormitories, the occupants share bathrooms among a couple of rooms. There is a fridge to share with other students, but no kitchen utensils such as pots, plates, forks or knives. Dormitories don’t provide soap, towels, or toilet paper. In each dormitory there is a laundry for your use.

How much?
Be prepared to pay a one month deposit (approx. 100 EUR). The monthly fee is also about 100 EUR, again, depending on which dormitory are you staying in.

Useful information
Erasmus students can enter their dormitory room at any time during the day or at night. The dormitory administrator, who’s bound to sit there 24/7, will give you the keys. A thing worth mentioning is that the dormitory administrators sometimes conduct inspections as to whether the students’ computers have illegal programming e.g. for downloading music or films. They will also check if the copies of your system and programs themselves are legal and not pirated. If you have guests in your room, they must leave at 23.00 or 24.00, depending on which dormitory you’re staying in. If someone wants to sleep over in your room, he/she must inform the dormitory administrator and pay a fee (about 4 EUR). Your roommates will then be asked to sign a permission slip in order for your guest to stay. You are allowed to organise parties of up to 30 people, but must again get the permission of the administrator to do so.

Option 2: Flat or apartment rental

Why?
If you have a little more money to spend and need a lot more personal space than is available in a dormitory, if you like inviting people and don’t want to ask anyone’s permission to do so you should consider renting a flat. Basically, if you want to feel at home.

Where?
Wherever you want to – in the city centre, by the sea, or closer to your faculty – it’s up to you. The location is your choice, but always remember the distance you will have to travel on your way to the university or to work.

What?
Most apartments for rent are fully furnished, with kitchens and bathrooms, furniture and (depending on the standard) also a TV. It is important that the flat has the Real estate agencies
Finding a flat with the help of real estate agencies has a lot of advantages. First of all, they will review and monitor the real estate market to find you what you want. Secondly, they will send you offers by e-mail, and arrange meetings with owners of the flats you’re interested in. And most importantly, they will make sure that the contractual part of the rental agreement is done properly and according to the law.

Remember, if you decide to rent an apartment found and presented to you by an agent, you will have to pay a commission fee. Usually this amount depends on the flat’s value and will usually start at half a month’s rent.

Acquaintances
Nowadays, lots of apartments are rented through acquaintances. It is good to ask friends, your employer, and other people you meet whether they know someone who is looking for a tenant.

How much?
Basically, the price depends on the location (local amenities, transportation facilities), the number of bedrooms, appliances, and the standard of accommodation. Most flats in Gdańsk, Sopot, and Gdynia are furnished: kitchens are fully-fitted with a fridge, oven and dishwasher.

All the administrative charges that you find in advertisements are obligatory and should be added to the rent. These administrative charges will vary from 100 PLN to 700 PLN a month. It is important that you find out whether the cost of the apartment/room includes all utility payments such as heating, water, electricity, and the Internet, as sometimes it does not.

How?
There are practically no offers of flats in English, so it would be great if you could get someone to help you with translating the offers. But if you familiarise yourself with how to go about renting a flat, we believe that even lack of language will not be a huge barrier.

How to look for a place to live? There are a lot of ways to find an apartment:

Internet
The web is the best method of looking for someplace to live. There are many websites which are dedicated to advertisements for rental flats. The real estate section allows you to search for flats according to different criteria:

- price
- type of apartment (studio flat, two-bedroom flat etc.)
- size of living area
- location (region, city, district)

Before you start searching, try to think about what you need. Work out your expectations and requirements clearly.

Newspapers
Polish newspapers and magazines are still a very common way of looking for somewhere to live. It is worth knowing that once a week the newspaper Gazeta Wyborcza has a housing supplement. What’s more, every Wednesday in newspaper kiosks you can buy Anonse, a magazine which is full of local real estate ads (Gdańsk, Sopot, Gdynia). Bear in mind that most advertisements are in Polish.
1 room apartment – from 800 PLN up to 1500 PLN (the upper limit seems a reasonable one, but obviously you’ll always be able to find something more expensive ) + administrative charges.

2 room apartment – 1000 PLN up to 1800 PLN + administrative charges.

3 room apartment – 1200 PLN up to 2200 PLN + administrative charges.

When renting a single room in a house or in an apartment, the price is often the amount you’ll have to pay, with no additional charges or fees for electricity, water, and heating.

1 room in a house – 400 PLN up to 800 PLN.

Additional information
Landlords normally require a deposit of one or two months’ rent. You will get the deposit back when moving out, but only if you leave the flat in good condition.
Always ask your potential landlord how long he/she wants to rent the flat for.
When signing an agreement, you should list all the appliances and furniture in the flat and attach the list to the agreement.
The flat’s owner may have spare key to your rented flat, but he/she has no right to enter the apartment when you are not there.
There are two types of contract: standard and temporary. The second one means that you plan to live in the apartment only for a specified time.
You can negotiate the rent. This costs nothing. Sometimes you can get unexpected results.
Insurance

HEALTH SERVICE

EU/EEA citizens
Poland has a healthcare system based on general health insurance. Persons covered by the general health insurance are entitled to free health services in the territory of Poland at the health care providers who have signed contracts with the National Health Fund (NFZ – Narodowy Fundusz Zdrowia). The National Health Fund is the institution responsible for the co-ordination of health services for insured persons and members of their families.

Non-EU/EEA citizens
The students from non-EU/EEA countries should purchase health insurance in their home country before departure. For holders of ISIC or Euro<26 cards, insurance is included in the card and the student does not need to buy another policy unless they want to increase its coverage or value.

Prepaid phones

Many international students will bring a mobile phone with them. Pre-paid deals can be a better option than calling to your family and relatives using your own mobile provider. A SIM card can be bought anywhere: stores, supermarkets, gas stations etc. Using polish phone cards is around 75% cheaper than normal calls from your phone, so don’t waste your money! You should also remember about Skype. It is very cheap if you want to call a landline number anywhere in the world.
